SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 19. 1743

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from France.

Extract of a Letter from Milan, dated Feb. 10. N. S.

COUNT Gages, the Spanish General, having form'd a Design to surprize the Austrians and Piedmontese Troops, had for that Purpose kept the Gates of Bologna close shut for two Days, to prevent Count Traun's getting any Intelligence of his Dispositions; and in all Probability his Project would have succeeded, had not a Priest found Means in the Night to escape over the Wall, and get to Count Traun, to whom he discover'd the Spanish General's Intention. The Count dispatch'd upon this Couriers to recall his Troops which were canton'd in the adjacent Villages, and put himself, as soon as possible, at the Head of 3000 Cavalry, with which he made a Front against the Spanish Army, who had already taken a great Magazine of the Austrians at Final di Modena, having surpriz'd the Troops who guarded it. When they came in Sight of the Austrian Army, the Spanish General believing that his Scheme had been discover'd to, or penetrated by Count Traun, apprehended, from their Front, the whole Austrian and Piedmontese Forces had been collected together, precipitately repass'd the Panaro; but being briskly follow'd by the Austrians and Piedmontese, whose Numbers were continually increasing, he was oblig'd to come to a Battle, which began on the 8th, at 3 in the Afternoon, at Campo Santo in the Modenese, and was not finally decided till the 9th at Noon, when the Austrians and Piedmontese gain'd a complete Victory, tho' with a considerable Loss both of Officers and Soldiers. Count Traun had 2 Horses shot under him, and Count Apremont was wounded. Count Colloredo had been dispatch'd to Vienna with this important News, and the Austrians, at the time of writing this Letter, were in pursuit of the Spaniards. The Letter concludes with saying, 'This Evening all the Cannon of our Citadel will be discharg'd, and all imaginable Rejoicings made, on account of this Victory.'

Extract from the Paris Almanac.

Paris, Feb. 22, 1743. 'The King intends to review, on the 15th of next Month, the Regiments of French and Swiss Guards; and all the Officers of those Regiments have had Orders to prepare themselves to march immediately after the said Review.

'We are assur'd, that the General Officers who are to serve in the approaching Campaign, have also had Orders to be ready to set out the beginning of next Month.

Madame de Orleans, formerly Abbess of Chelles, and Sister to the present Duke of Orleans, died on the 19th, of the Small Pox, in the 45th Year of her Age.

Letters from Doway inform us, that they are extremely busy in getting together whatever may be necessary for the Service of the Army, which it is expected will assemble shortly in that Neighbourhood.

It is currently reported here, that the Grand Signior has resolv'd, contrary to the Sentiments of the Divan, to make Peace with Thomas Kouli Kan, and in Concert with him, to declare War against the Queen of Hungary, while he acts at the same time against the Carina; to which End his sublime Highness is about to send 45,000 Men into the Bannat of Tameswar.

'We learn from Bavaria, that P. Lobkowitz is advanced into the Heart of the Upper Palatinate, and is very shortly to join the Forces of Count Kevenhuller.'

I R E L A N D.

Dublin, Feb. 8. Yesterday Morning died at his House in Abbey-street, in the 90th Year of his Age, James Benner, Esq; formerly an eminent Linen-Draper in London; he enjoyed the perfect Use of his Senses, except his Sight, to the last Moment, was of an excellent Character, and much belov'd. 'By his Death, an Estate of near 1000 l. a Year devolves upon Richard Weld, M. D. and Mr. Charles Weld of Dublin, Merchant, in Right of their Wives, only surviving Daughters and Coheiresses of the said James Benner, Esq;

Sunday Evening eight Boys who had been out a pleasure in a Ship's Boat, on their return home met with a Squall of Wind, which by their Mismanagement overset the Boat; and one Dungan, Son of a Watchman on the Custom-house Quay, was unfortunately drowned. 'Tis said he lost his Life by saving his Brother, a Child about seven Years old, whom he supported till he was quite spent, and sunk just as the rest got the Child out of the Water.

Dublin, Feb. 12. Last Monday Night died much lamented, in the 91st Year of his Age, Mr. George Rooke, sen. and on Thursday his Corpse was convey'd from his own House to the Quakers Meeting House in Meath-street with great Solemnity, and from thence to their Burying-place in Dolphin-barn-lane, attended by great Numbers of his Friends, and other People. He was an eminent Preacher amongst the Quakers above 70 Years; the Evenness and Sweetness of his Temper, his uniform steady virtuous Life, the Excellence and Purity of his Manners, and his universal Good-will to Mankind, made him not only esteem'd and belov'd by those of his own Persuasion throughout Great Britain, and this Kingdom, but by all others who had the Happiness of his Acquaintance.

On the Death of George Rooke, an eminent Preacher amongst the People called Quakers. By one of his Friends.

Here lies what's mortal of a blameless Priest,
Unstain'd with Vice, with every Virtue blest;
Who always preach'd the very Truth he taught,
Liv'd what he preach'd, and practis'd what he taught;
Nor knew the wicked Arts of Simony
To sell that Gospel which he dur'd not buy:
But taught, unpension'd, what was freely giv'n
From him to Mortals, as to him from Heav'n.
In vain shall Worth or Wisdom plead to save
The dying Victim from the destin'd Grave,
Since Piety itself can boast no Pow'r
One Moment to protract th' appointed Hour,
As witness'd here: could Virtue have repriev'd
We should not weep, for still the Saint had liv'd.

We hear from Londonderry, that Col. Henry Cary of Dungiven, was last Week sworn Mayor of that City; at which Time he gave an elegant Entertainment to all the Citizens and Gentlemen in the Neighbourhood, which was very numerous. There were great Demonstrations of Joy on this Occasion; the Night concluded with a Play, a Ball, ringing of Bells, and Fire-works of various kinds.

James Bryan, of Ballintemple in the County of Wicklow, Gent. hath discover'd a Method of Tanning Leather without Bark; and as the same will be of great Service to the Publick, and that he has tried it several times, and finds it will answer the Purpose of Bark, and that by that Method Soal Leather may be tanned in a shorter time than it can be tanned with Bark, and as well, in order that the Publick may be inform'd thereof, and receive Advantage thereby, he hath underneath inserted the manner in which it may be done.

Take common Briar Roots, cut off the Part that is above the Ground, wash the Roots clean, chop the hard Part of the Root into small Pieces, and dry them either in the Sun, or on a Kiln, and when dried, use them the same Way that Bark is used.—The Roots should be taken up before the Sap rises; and for keeping, they must be well dried, but Sun drying will serve for present Use.

PARALYTICON, seu Anima Nervorum.

A Stupendous Chymical Effence, which infallibly

cures the Palsy, and all other NERVOUS

DISEASES:

THE very first Dose of it (a few Drops

only) instantly penetrates the inmost Recesses of the minute

Nerves, and darting almost as quick as Lightning thro' the whole

Human System, diffuses kindly Warmth and genial Comfort in the weaken'd Limbs, and all Parts of the Body, and affords immediate sensible Relief in the most obstinate Palsy, and all Paralytick Effects, Shaking, Trembling, Numbness, Deadness, and Weakness, whether universal, or of particular Parts only, or whether long contracted, or of many Years Continuance.

And as the very first Dose makes an apparent demonstrable Ameliorment, so the continuing of it for a short Time as surely accomplishes a perfect Cure, not only of the most grievous Palsy or Relaxation of the Nerves, but also of their Cramp-like Contractions, Shaking of the Sinews, and all other Nervous Complaints, however occasioned by preceding Illnesses, fast Living, hard Drinking, long Courses of Physick, great Colds, or excessive Fatigues either of Mind or Body.

Words cannot sufficiently express the uncommon, the unparalleled Efficacy of this great Medicine, as all who take it sanely acknowledge; and its vastly superior Excellency to all other Remedies, may be more securely rely'd on, for the absolute Cure of the Palsy, and all Paralytick Effects and Nervous Indispositions, than the Celestial Correx is for Intermittents.

It rectifies all Disorders of the first Passages, creates an Appetite, procures a good Digestion, enlivens the Blood, restores the natural Vigour and steady Use of the Limbs, and strengthens the inflexible Joints, Muscles, Tendons, Ligaments, and whole Habit to an in-mensurable Degree.

It is also very pleasant to take, is comforting and cordial to the Stomach and Bowels, and for Safety might be given to the youngest Infants.

It is to be had only, by the Author's Appointment, at Mr. Redford's Toyshop, at the Rose and Crown against St. Clement's Church-Yard, in the Strand, at 1 s. 6 d. a Bottle, with printed Directions at large.
